HIGH RIVER WINS

Clareholm Football Boys Lose Their First Home Game

On Tuesday evening by a score of 1 to 0 the High River football boys persuaded the local players and most of the spectators that High River had the best team. The game began at 7:15 with Clareholm kicking against a very stiff wind. High River having won the toss. This gave High River very much the advantage because by half time when they changed ends of the field the wind had almost ceased to blow.

The only goal scored was by High River within one minute of the beginning of the game. In fact the goal was scored before the Clareholm boys seemed to realize that there was a game being played. From that on the game was well contested and had it not been for the strong wind in the first half the score might have been different. On the other hand if it had not been for the good play of Griffith in goal for the local team the score would have looked much worse to them. The Clareholm team did not seem to work well together. Whether it was from lack of practice on the part of some or on account of some changes of position that were made for this game or whether it was one of those days off that sometimes occurs to any team it is hard to say but it is the general opinion of those who have seen the local team play most of their games this season that there was something wrong and that the team has played much better games than the one they put up Tuesday evening.

The game was clean throughout and the High River boys have shown themselves to be good sportsmen. It is the general opinion of the team that played the best game won. The line up was as follows:
High River—Hopwood (goal); McInyre and Bowerman (back); Smith, Stanley and Kerr (halfback); Ramsey, Gilchrist, Harrison, Godfrey, MacMillan (forward).
Clareholm Griffith (goal) Innis and Keller (back); Wallwin, Johnson, Rowan (half back); W. Moffatt, Watt, Winters, J. E. Moffatt and Wood (forward.)

Local Improvement System

The Hon. W. H. Cushing has foreshadowed a change in the local improvement system that if carried out will prove of considerable benefit to Alberta. He advocates the government taking over the work. Some districts under the present arrangement are giving excellent satisfaction, but such is not universally the case. Very little work of a permanent nature is being accomplished and it is difficult if not impossible to construct good leading highways under the present system. This work to give best results must be conducted on a business and under the supervision of a practical, farseeing expert so that gradually our main roads will assume uniformity and be constructed in the most economical and permanent manner suitable to local conditions. Roadways are the veins and arteries of local commerce and according to their condition do they enhance farm property.

When farmers realize the tremendous advantage of good roads they will be united in forcing measures that will ensure cheap and speedier horsepower transportation.—E.K.

Council Proceedings

J. E. Wood..... 50.40

carried

Frost—Clark that a resolution be drafted and forwarded to Col. Steele praying him to allow the Alberta Rangers to come to Clareholm for July 1st to help in Clareholm demonstration, carried.

Frost—Bowen that we have by-laws No. 4, remanded, carried.

Teskey—Frost that we adjourn, carried.

High River Sports

C Squadron 15th Light Horse of High River will hold their annual Military sports and Horse Races on June 21st this year. The sports this year promise to eclipse any previous effort that High River has made in this time and that is saying a great deal as High River has long been known as a thoroughly sports town. One of the many attractions that they have arranged to have on that day is the 15th Light Horse Band of Calgary. The full regimental band that is going to tour the British Isles will be in attendance and will be composed of not less than 44 musicians of the highest standing. The committee in charge of the sports are to be congratulated on their enterprise in going to the expense of securing this splendid musical organization which alone will attract large crowds from the surrounding town. Many new features will be introduced in the military sports. One feature that will be sure a novelty, is the musical Ride, which is composed of 8 ladies and 8 gentlemen dressed in appropriate costumes. High River has long been noted for their lady horse back riders, and no doubt the ladies taking part in this Ride will up hold the reputation that they have long been credited with. Particulars regarding these sports will be given on application to Lieut. J. B. Anderson. See large posters. Reduced rates will be given on all railroads.

Of Interest to Stallion Owners

While on patrol duty recently As he found that Mr. Tonberg, of Seven Persons, was standing Station for gain in his stable without having a certificate of enrollment issued by the Department of Agriculture, posted on the inside and outside of his stable door, as required by the Ordinance. Mr. Tonberg pleaded guilty to the charge when brought before Insp. Parker, of Medicine Hat, on May 26th last, and

TEMPERANCE

Temperance and Moral Reform League Organize

The meeting called for last Friday evening in the Methodist Church was well attended. Mr. Jas. McKenney acted as chairman and upon taking the chair explained the purpose of the meeting. Mr. McKenney who had just returned from a meeting of the executive of the League explained in a few words the purpose of the league and what it has already done.

Rev. Walker of MacLeod was the principal speaker of the evening and dealt at some length with the different solutions of the Temperance problem. He treated this subject under four heads viz:

- (1) License System High or Low.
- (2) Government Control.
- (3) Prohibition.
- (4) Compensate System.

The speaker discussed each of these heads at some length showing the benefit and draw-backs to each method.

The first he strongly opposed on the ground that it did not curtail the sale of liquor. The higher the license the more liquor the hotel man had to sell to make things pay.

The system of government control, also known as the Dispensary system in North Carolina although having many good qualities was opposed on account of the leverage it gave to the political party in power especially at the time of an election.

The company system which consists of the handing over of the whole liquor business to a company composed of Philanthropic capitalists who will be satisfied with a profit on the money invested and whose objects will be to curtail as much as possible the sale of alcoholic liquors by replacing them by milk, tea, coffee etc.

This system is supported by Earl Grey, Gov. General of Canada and was strongly endorsed by the speaker.

The last solution mentioned that, of prohibition was to the speakers mind the ideal one but he thought that on account of the lack of Education it would be useless to try to enforce it.

Mr. E. W. Frost followed Mr. Walker with a short address on the legislative aspect of the question strongly endorsing local action and what they had accomplished by the new liquor act which comes into force on July 1st next.

After this a local branch of the Temperance and Moral Reform league was formed with the following officers—President—E. W. Frost; Vice President—The Pastors of the different Churches; Secretary Wm. Knight and Treasurer Wm. Knight and an executive committee of eight made up of members of all the Churches in town.

was fined $2.00 (Two Dollars) and costs.

As the object of the Horse Breeding Ordinance is to improve the horse industry of the Province steps will be taken to see that its provisions are carried out. Stallion owners having failed to comply with the requirement of the Ordinance by not having their horses enrolled, or neglected to post copies of the certificate of enrollment on the stable door, would do well to take warning from the above.

Cut Worms in the Field and Gardens

Bearing in mind the enormous damage that was done by cutworms last spring, it will pay the farmer and garden owners to give a look to their crops as early as possible after they are sown and any note just as soon as the small plants begin to appear. The parent moths or millers were not very numerous last fall so that probably the cut worms will not be nearly so plentiful this spring as they were last, but from what has already been seen in the fields and gardens there is still risk of a good deal of damage from the depredations of these creatures this year.

These pests are very easily destroyed and the remedy consists in applying a mixture of paris green and kerosene to the surface of the ground in which the cut worms are harboring. The creatures come out to the surface to feed at night and soon learn to be in great fear with them as a food, and when there is a judicious mixture of paris green along with it they usually are quite satisfied with one meal. The mixture should be in the proportion of one pound of paris green to 50 pounds of bran, although some authorities prescribe double the quantity of paris green to the same amount of paris green. The bran should be mixed with sweetened water till it is crumbly, not sloppy, and the paris green dusted on to it and thoroughly mixed. It may be applied with a piece of shingle or even the bare hand if only a small quantity is to be used. Many farmers found this treatment very effective last year and indeed it is now recognized as the standard remedy all over the country, wherever cut worms become a pest.

To prevent disappointment in the cabbage patch every plant should be protected by a screen of paper laid out on the stalk just above the roots and loosely enfolding the leaves. This forms an effective barrier to the cut worm, is easily applied, and does not interfere with the growth of the cabbage.

Where Kipling Got It.

Rudyard Kipling undoubtedly got his wit from his maternal grandfather, the Rev. George B. MacDonald, a Wesleyan clergyman. In the days when young MacDonald was courting the lady whom he afterwards married, the father-in-law to be—an aged Methodist with extremely strict notions in regard to his properties—was injudicious enough on one occasion to enter the parlor without giving any warning of his approach. The consequence was that he found the sweethearts occupying a single chair. Deeply shocked by this spectacle, the old man solemnly said: "Mr. MacDonald, when I courted Mrs. Brown she sat on one side of the room and I on the other," MacDonald's reply was: "That's what I should have done if I had been courting Mrs. Brown."—London Express.

Mr. Dooley and the Automobile.

With native wit and wisdom Mr. Dooley, in his Disquisitions, says of automobiles: "Do I think the automobile has come to stay? Sure! I'll never tell ye. I've seen all th' burial but me on roller skates. I've seen ivy body ridin', a bicycle but me. Tin years ago, when ye'er son was holdin' on ye'er nanna as ye'reed up th' street on a wheel, ye'll ye'er prayer was mayint an' th' reverse answer, ye'll me that th' bicycle had come to stay because it was mislery to get around quick. Today ye blash as I minint it. Th' automobile will stay till it gets close enough fr' ivy body to have wan. When th' little, eager messenger boys is dashin up th' street in a eighty horse power Demon Terror, th' rich will be flyin' kites or rannin' balloons, an' th' ye'll be a parashute forelery polishmen to chase them across th' skies."

Tom Thumb.

Charles Stratton, better known as General Tom Thumb, was thirty-one inches high at twenty-five years of age. His wife was thirty-two inches high at twenty-one. Their child is said to have been the most minute freak of humanity that probably ever appeared on the earth.

Bottles.

Bottles are blown, the blowing process being as old as the time of the pharaohs, for in the Egyptian monuments are depicted glassblowers at work just as they work today. Machine made bottles are molded.

Tablespoons.

Sixteen tablespoonsfuls of any or dietary liquid, except molasses, make half a pint.

Breastworks.

Toward the close of the civil war the men on both sides became so expert in erecting temporary fortifications that in a few minutes an entire regiment, halted in an open field, would disappear from view behind the breastworks thrown up by the men.

Biology.

The science of biology dates from Trevisan's work on the subject in 1802. He dealt, according to the knowledge of his time, with the science of life.

Old Leather.

Old leather can be made to look like new by applying a coat of French polish with a camel's hair brush. If the color is worn off the leather in any place, it is best to color the polished according to the color of the leather.

The Male Mosquito.

The male mosquitoes do not bite, but live upon the juices of flowers and plants.

The Fat Man's Burden.

Two Paris policemen observed an abnormally stout man being helped along by two friends. The officers advised his being taken to a hospital, but at the policeman's first word the man's companions took to their heels, while the stout man collapsed on the pavement. The police found that he had sixty feet of copper cable wound under his vest. He had stolen the cable.

The Heaslip Fly.

In the pupa state the Heaslip fly cast a surety he distinguished from a sea slug.

Didymus.

Didymus, the Alexandrian, was born blind, but, notwithstanding this defect, attained such great skill in mathematics, geometry and logic that he was reckoned one of the wonderers of his age.

Dice.

Dice are made from ivory or bone, a cutting machine reducing cubes to the size required, after which they are polished, generally by hand.

The Cheese Fly.

The common cheese fly is only a tenth of an inch long. It deposits about 200 eggs in the cracks of cheese, though if not able to find this substance it readily selects another.

Digging Fish.

The digging fish is a native of the lakes and rivers of central Africa. When the dry season approaches it burrows in the mud at the bottom of its residence to the depth of two or three feet, goes to sleep and awaits the return of the wet season.

Louette.

Italians call locusts "little horses," and the Germans term for these pests "day horses."

Geometry.

The invention of geometry is attributed by some to the Assyrians or Chaldeans, others, by others to the Egyptians. Geometry was brought into Greece by Thales in 600 B. C. The study was greatly improved by Euclid.

Buckles.

Some form of buckle was in use in the Roman army before the Christian era. These buckles were provided with tongues which passed through holes in the belt. In the reign of Charles II. of England buckles instead of shoelaces became fashionable and were made of great size, some covering the whole instep.

Fort and Fortress.

The difference between a fort and a fortress lies in the fact that the former is designed to contain solely the garrison and their munitions, while the latter is often a city containing a large number of noncombatants.

Mineralogy.

The first scientific work on minerals was a treatise by George Agricola in the sixteenth century. Before that time it had been considered only as a part of geology.

Rich Strike of Gold in Cariboo.

Vancouver, B. C., May 20.—A local Hydraulic company received word late last night of the most important gold strike that has been made in the Cariboo district for the last forty years.

The famous long lost channel which has been unsuccessfully sought after since the big days in the Cariboo nearly half a century ago has not only been located but red-rock has been reached.

The gold discovered ground will break out fully six feet of pay dirt with a width of 75 feet, the channel itself being 101 feet wide.

One strike has been made on Rose Gulch, and the owners of the claim are all Vancouver men.

The Bourbon.

The house of Bourbon furnished kings to France, Spain and Portugal and sovereign dukes to Parma. At one time it was said that the humblest member of this royal family was more influential than a prince of any other.

Spoons.

The earliest spoons were made of horn. Specimens of ivory and bone have been found in the abodes of the cave dwellers and lake dwellers all over Europe. Spoons of gold and silver are mentioned as having been used at Nero's table. In Saxon times every guest brought his own knife and spoon, the host providing a towel or cloth for wiping such at the close of the repast.

Mr. Sifton, Magnate

The public of Canada need not be surprised if they hear any day that Hon. Clifford Sifton, who is now on his way to Canada, has developed into a financial magnate in London. For some weeks past he has been in London, and, as the cable announced to us a day or two ago, he has been busy on a fast Imperial service proposition between Asia and England via the Pacific ocean, across the Canadian continent, and thence from the nearest available Canadian port to a British port. Such a project on the lines mentioned in the cable dispatches is a very ambitious one, which will require a great deal of money and a fine organization.

Mr. Sifton can qualify in both capacities. He is today how wealthy few people would care to guess. He has proved his organization powers in connection with the administration of the Canadian West. Apparently, for the present, at least he has dropped any idea of active political life, and is content to go into the largest field of finance, handling great political or commercial transportation propositions and things of a similar character. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is, we imagine, in very close touch with Mr. Sifton—Toronto World.

Was It A Failure

"Most Englishmen," says Windmere, the London correspondent of the Montreal Star, apropos of the late conference, "are already writing the word failure, across the conference of 1907. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues frankly admit that at though Britain disclaims the preference today, Mr. Balfour was probably right when he declared in Albert hall last week that the preference is bound to win and that soon. The British miner's refusal of colonial offers made a profound impression on the public here. To them it seems like slamming the mother's door in the children's face.

Sir Wilfrid's speech at the conference yesterday, when in response to British appeals he frankly explained Canada's intention to negotiate with foreign powers on the basis of intermediate tariff, is for Englishmen another powerful argument for mutual preference not only because the intermediate tariff, immediately reduces the margin of the British preference under which alone Britain can hold her own against foreign in colonial market, but also because foreign negotiations may easily and moreover less permanently bar the way of empire on a reciprocal basis.
